

SHOWA BEST GLOVE

December 2008

317 Hi-Viz

The "Grip" range of gloves from Showa has a new addition – the emblematic 310 Grip is now available in a high-visibility version: the Showa 317 Hi-Viz.

Delivering the same comfort and the same performance in terms of grip and resistance to tearing, the Showa 317 Hi-Viz glove has a highly visible knit and marking on the back of the hand that turns fluorescent after light-storage, making it ideal for working at night or in low-light conditions.

A multi-purpose glove for general use, the 317 Hi-Viz glove has a support made of a seamless polyester knit and a latex coating, suitable for handling both wet and dry items.

This new glove follows the same logic as its famous predecessor: the cost of a glove is measured more by its cost-effectiveness than its purchase price. The long life of the new 317 Hi-Viz will guarantee a better return on investment than its imitators.

Designed specifically for the public works sector (in particular infrastructure maintenance at night), the glove is also very well suited to the masonry and roofing trades.

"Visibility, not just grip, is essential for the safety of night workers, and working conditions remain extremely difficult. During the day and at night, the 317 Hi-Viz glove combines all the benefits of SHOWA gloves in terms of comfort, durability and low operating costs, and offers genuine advantages for hand protection at night!"

About Showa Best glove

The Japanese group Showa Best Glove is a world leader in the professional protective glove market.

As the inventor of the seamless PVC glove and the grip style glove, Showa's industrial approach and development strategy revolve around innovation and operational excellence. This pursuit of innovation takes the form of ongoing research into new fibers and materials offering unrivalled comfort and improved safety.

Established over 50 years in this market, Showa Best Glove has a strong presence in all continents. Its research centers in Japan, Malaysia and USA are recognized as among the most advanced in the world.

It exercises full and unique control, from design, manufacturing through to marketing, giving it an expertise that is particularly recognized by its customers. Through their contribution to increased productivity, Showa Best gloves represent a profitable investment while making a significant contribution to improving working conditions.

For more information

Showa Best Glove

Richard Heppell

Tour Franklin - La Défense 8 - 92042 Paris La Défense Cedex - France

Tel.: +33 (0)1 55 62 14 20 - Fax: +33 (0)1 55 62 14 29

info@showabestglove.eu

www.showabestglove.com

