

SHOWA BEST GLOVE

June 2009

340 OptiGrip

Workers looking for hand protection that is lightweight while providing effective grip have finally found the glove they're looking for: the new Showa 340 OptiGrip.

The 340 OptiGrip's fine anti-slip nylon knit, adheres perfectly to the hand, preserving full dexterity even when handling heavy loads. Breathable and supple, the 340 OptiGrip is highly resistant to deformation. The latex coating, for flexibility and elasticity, provides excellent resistance to water, detergents and alcohols.

The breathable back of hand helps to avoid perspiration and leaves freedom of movement for the hands.

Designed for work requiring full dexterity, for example finishing work and tiling, the 340 OptiGrip is also appreciated in the construction, mechanical engineering and assembly sectors.

"Any loss of dexterity or discomfort caused by perspiration can stand in the way of wearability of protective gloves. That's why we have developed the 340 OptiGrip glove, which combines comfort, ergonomics, breathability and grip – criteria that are particularly important in sectors such as fabric construction, public works and transport. In addition, its longer life compared to traditional gloves will help it to work out significantly cheaper in use, and will be interesting to safety officers and buyers, who are always on the look-out for increased safety for the lowest possible price".

About Showa Best glove

The Japanese group Showa Best Glove is a world leader in the professional protective glove market.

As the inventor of the seamless PVC glove and the grip style glove, Showa's industrial approach and development strategy revolve around innovation and operational excellence. This pursuit of innovation takes the form of ongoing research into new fibers and materials offering unrivalled comfort and improved safety.

Established over 50 years in this market, Showa Best Glove has a strong presence in all continents. Its research centers in Japan, Malaysia and USA are recognized as among the most advanced in the world.

It exercises full and unique control, from design, manufacturing through to marketing, giving it an expertise that is particularly recognized by its customers. Through their contribution to increased productivity, Showa Best gloves represent a profitable investment while making a significant contribution to improving working conditions.

For more information

Showa Best Glove

Richard Heppell

Tour Franklin - La Défense 8 - 92042 Paris La Défense Cedex - France

Tel.: +33 (0)1 55 62 14 20 - Fax: +33 (0)1 55 62 14 29

info@showabestglove.eu

www.showabestglove.com

SHOWA

Best

Two Powerful Companies. One Powerhouse in Protection.